Stallings Threatened Connie Mack

Championship Series Between Athletics and Braves Commence Today-Manager Stallings Has Accused Connie Mack of Unsportsmanship and Threatened to Punch His Nose—Rudolph and Bender Will Probably Oppose Each Marked Interest in Series.

Close followers of professional baseball are astounded by the keen interest and enthusiasm which has developed over the games between the Braves and Athletics. Local attendance at Shibe Park during the American League season was not up to the usual standard this season but the rush to secure seats for the closing contests surpasses all previous records. Local delegations from Boston, New York, Baltimore and Washington and both hotel proprietors and baseball magnates are at their wits' ends trying to accommodate the gathering clans. Tonight baseball magnates, players, writers, ticket speculators and fans are surging and seething about the city in a manner which would lend the uninitiated stranger to believe it was the hour before the enemy opened bombardment.

Stallings Threatened Mack.

Manager Stallings of the Boston Nationals has accused Connie Mack of the Phikadelphia Americans of unsportsmanlike conduct and during a telephone conversation this afternoon threatened to punch the world's champions' leader on the nose at the first opportunity. The trouble arose over Stallings' request for the use of Shibe Park for practice. He made the request to Mack in person and the Athletics have been quoted a: odds ranging from 2 to 1 to 10 to 7. Most of the betting has been confined to the number of games to be played and otherwise to use the park at any hour except between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon, when the local club was scheduled to practice. According to Connie Mack, the Boston manager was satisfied but when Mack asked Stallings today if he had accused the Phikadelphia club of refusing to permit the National Leagus champions to use the park the argument soon became both bittes and personal and the hard feffing spread rapidly, among the players, magnates and partisans of the two leagues. In discussing the affair, Mack said:

"I cannot understand how the trouble arose. Stallings asked me for the use of the park today during a conversation on Wednesday. I told him Boston could have it at any hour except between 2 and 3 o'clock when I had ordered the Athletics to report for a final workout.

"He made no protest and early this"

Philadelphia, Oct. 8—Unless all signs fail, the world's series of 1914 will be modelled along the lines of the great European war. The spirit of brotherly love, for which the Quaker is noted, appears to have been crowded into the background. The struggle for the premier baseball honors of the universe opened with a campaign of threats that read like bulletins from the foreign war zone.

Manager George Stallings, of the Boston Nationals, threatened to punch Connie Mack, of the world's champion Athletics, on the nose; Director Porter of the department of public safety threatens to investigate ticket graft scandal; the national commission reported an alleged shortage of pasteboards and, to cap the climax, the weather man threatens rain for tomorrow, the day upon which the American and National League pennant winners are scheduled to open the series at Shibe Park in this city.

NEGOTIATIONS ABANDONED FOR ARMY-NAVY GAME.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 3.—Negotiations for a football game between the army and navy teams this year have been abandoned. This was announced by the navy athletic association today.

Capt. William F. Fullam, superintendent of the academy, in a statement issued at the same time, announced that he personally approves of the action of the navy athletic council. Said Captain Fullam:

"From the viewpoint of the best interests of the naval academy and the midshipmen, there are insurmountable objections to playing in New York, or at any point which cannot be reached in three or four hours from Annapolis. Playing at New York involves an expense of from seven to eight thousand dollars for the midshipmens' travel. They last year arrived only five minutes before the game and might in any year fail to reach there in time.

"The superintendent approved the proposition to play at the midway point unreservedly, and also to play on the home grounds, the battalions not to accompany the team in the latter case. The objections to Philadelphia and to the home grounds are not considered reasonable.

"It is needless to say that the navy team will play the game wherever it is ordered to do so by proper authority, but if the opinions of the superintendent and truthfully."

LARGEST FRESHMAN CLASS

Affairs at the University in

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New Haven, Oct. 8—The largest class that ever entered Yale was welcomed into the university on last Friday evening. The Academic Freshmen who numbered 575 were gathered in Dwight hall while the 550 Freshmen of the Sheffield Scientic school met in Byers hall. President Hadley, Director Chittenden, together with other members of the faculty and the captains of the varsity teams addressed the incoming classes. Later in the month President and Mrs. Hadley will hold an informal reception for the Freshmen.

The Yale Bowl is practically ready for the Yale-Harvard football game on Nov. 21. The outside edges have been sodded and the ecement seats have been completed as far as it was intended. The bowl will in all probability not be finished for two or three years to come. It has been thought best to delay the construction of the entire cement seating area for at least a year in order to test the section already constructed. However, the inteded capacity, 70,000, will be accommodated, wooden seats being substituted for the cement.

"It is needless to say that the navy team will play the game wherever it is ordered to do so by proper authority, but if the opinions of the superintendent and the council are consulted they can only state their opinions frankly and truthfully."

HEORY OF BRAVES CRACKING IS EXPLODED.

Stallings's Men Have Pulled Through One Nerve Racking Strain All Right.

Those who are looking for the Braves to crack during the world series may be just as greatly disappointed as was John McGraw.

The theory that a good ball team will go to pieces in an important series was exploded long ago, and so has been the theory that a star ball player will crack under the strain and excitement and put up a miserable exhibition.

Look over the records of world series players and world series teams and players and world series teams and you will find that with rare exceptions the best team always has grabbed the bunting and that the star players have shone just as brightly in a world series as they did during the regular season.

Eddie Collins, Frank Baker and Jack Barry of the Athletics are fine examples of the exploded theory. The trio has fielded just as brilliantly during the world series in which they have figured as they did in the regular season that preceded them. In some cases they have done better.

In the 1910 world series Collins hat for 429, Baker for 409 and Barry for

He was robbed of that hit by a sensational catch by Murray of a drive that looked like a sure triple. Baker that year hit .375, while Barry clubbed 'em out for .368—over 100 points beyond normal.

In 1912 Tris Speaker, the Bostoslugger, got a .300 average out of the series, which was a trifle below normal. The other Red Sox hit around their normal averages. Meyers, the

In 1913 Baker hit for .450, Collins .421, Schang .357, Barry .300 and Oldring for .273. These averages were above normal showing that in the Athletics' case at least the good hitters sometimes play better baseball during a short world series than they do during the regular season.

Ty Cobb is one example to the contrary. The great Tiger batter emerged from the contrary.
